Information about ISESER

This event will be a useful for researchers, engineers, students, academics and anyone interested in environmental engineering. Through the conference, it will be possible to establish new partnerships, to share knowledge and experiences.

The purpose of the symposium is to provide senior students presenting their final thesis in the form of oral or poster presentations and to give information about the environmental problems to participants. In addition, some expert researchers will inform the participants with oral or poster presentations and brain storming will be established about environmental subjects. Also, this symposium aims to provide connections for graduate students and to provide opportunities for experts to share and discuss their experiences.

This event is organized as continuation of First and Second National Environmental Engineering Students Symposium (UÇMÖS). Information about previous events is reached from old symposium tab.

Received papers will be accepted after peer reviewed and all accepted articles will be printed in the proceeding book.

TOPICS

- Water Pollution
 - Wastewater Pollution
 - Air Pollution
 - Solid Waste Management
 - Biotechnology
 - Soil Pollution
 - Surface and Groundwater
 - Renewable Energy
 - Energy Management
 - Microbiology
 - Sustainability
 - Waste Recovery and Transformation
 - Environmental Modeling
 - Artificial Neural Networks
 - Fuzzy Logic
 - Geographical Information
 - Environmental Applications
